

Webcast delivery solutions designed for how you do business

Choosing the right event platform isn't the most important decision when your business requires consistent quality delivery of event programs - choosing the right partner is.

With more than 20 years of event service excellence, NTT has the expertise, technology and flexibility to manage the most complex events and ensure a professional and flawless experience for all.

If your marketing or events team is ready to run the show, NTT is perfectly placed to be your webcasting partner. Our self-service solution includes full-service organizational change management, training and adoption programs combined with industry renowned Digital Events services, all underpinned by the best technology in the industry.

End-to-end managed services allow you to:

Deliver complex events.

Host global, multilingual live webcasts.

Showcase professional, highly-customized virtual environments.

Self-service empowers your organization to:

Scale your webcast program with an 'always-on' communication channel to reach your large key audiences.

Maintain editorial control over branding and content.

Maximize your event team's technical strengths & creative talents.

Webcasting use cases

External events

- Product launches
- Product demos and updates
- Thought leadership and brand awareness
- Investor relations

Internal events

- Annual meetings
- Town halls
- All hands meetings
- Executive / leadership briefings

Contact us now to discuss your webcasting event strategy.

Managed webcasting

NTT's professional Digital Events teams simplify your entire event journey to deliver a complete managed services package, enabling you to focus on your messages.

Peace of mind with expertly run events

Delivered by professional event producers

Slick branding and customization

Complex multilingual webcasts

Quality data and reporting

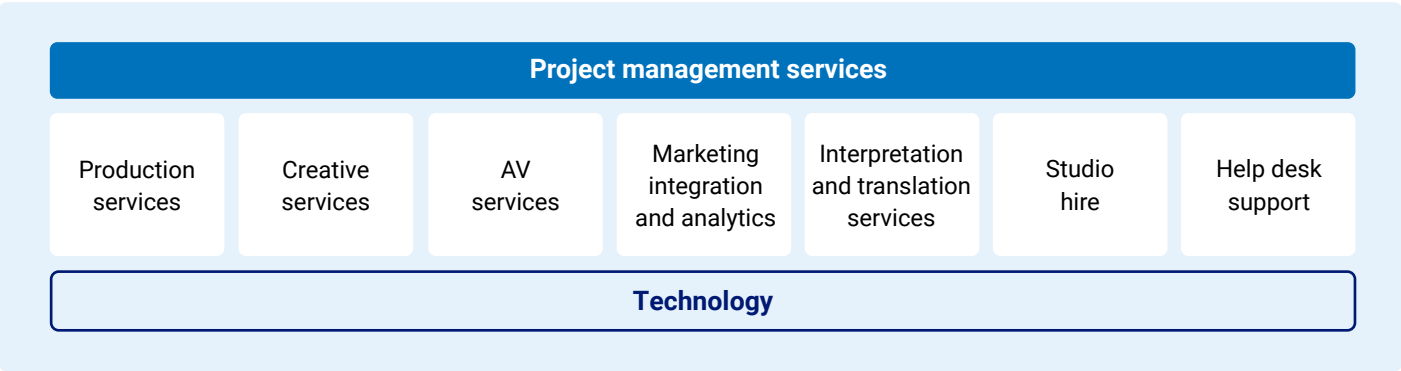

Marketing automation and platform integration

Global support and production teams

With our overarching project management services, our managed event offering includes a full spectrum of services underpinned by the webcast technology.

Self-service webcasting

Turn your team into webcasting pros with the self-service webcasting solution from NTT. We provide you with all the components you need to deliver a first-rate webcast program.

A complete package for event organizers

- The right platform for your webcast
We recommend the right self-service platform for your organization based on your team's level of expertise, the production capability you require and your event use case and objectives.
- Comprehensive training and onboard
Detailed training packages that include instructor-led sessions and event shadowing.
- Timely, global service support
Available 24/7/365 – we are where you are; we speak your language.
- Professional event management, production & AV services
For high-profile or complex events, digital event production or onsite AV, our event professionals are available to support you as and when required.

Freedom, creativity and flexibility

Autonomy

Lead generation & churn reduction

Marketing integration

Talented in-house team

Slick branding & customization options

Quality data & reporting

2 | © Copyright NTT Limited 2021

hello.global.ntt