

Smart Licensing Services

- Are you juggling different data, dashboards and portals, and are you looking for a single view of your license estate?
- Do you struggle to control the cost of your licenses?
- Are you in need of better advice and tools to control the ROI of your investment?

About Smart Licensing Services

As our infrastructure is moving from hardware to software, organizations need new tools, skills and expertise that leverage digital insight and digital intelligence to view, manage and optimize their software estate.

Smart Licensing Services help clients to transition to the new software subscription models, providing support to understand and structure their license entitlements, organize their digital wallet, and providing analytics and diagnostics on license usage and future optimization paths.

The organization will be able to view their license estate through NTT Ltd.'s service aggregator portal, Manage Center, and initiate workflows directly to manage their license entitlements.
